Jackson County 4-H Newsletter

A Note from Maddie:

July 2023

Dear Jackson County 4-H Families,

July is FINALLY here! Can you believe it?

Funnel cakes, fried vegetables, fair rides and fun are waiting for us in just a few short weeks!

I am so excited for my first Jackson County Fair as the 4-H Educator. As we move into the busy fair season, I'd like to challenge you all in the following ways:

1. Give a little grace. Fair season is a season of high temperatures... emotionally and literally. As we move into the competitiveness of the fair, remember to give a little grace. Mistakes happen – we are all human! It will be a long, hot, exhausting week. I recognize that many of you pour your own blood, sweat, and tears into your projects. When temperatures get high, remember to cool down, give a bit of grace, and know that we are all trying our best to put on the best fair week we can.

2. Say thank you. Many volunteers put in countless hours year-round to put on a successful fair. Sometimes, all it takes is a heartfelt thank you to keep them going.

This month's newsletter includes important information for upcoming Jackson County 4-H deadlines and events. 2023 is a big year full of exciting changes and adjustments! As we head into the busy summer 4-H season, please take the time to read all the information I am sending your way. As always, if you have any questions, please reach out to the Office. We are here to help!

See you at the Fair!

- ☐ New & Revised Jackson County Junior Fair Market Steer Carcass Class Rules can be found at go.osu.edu/JacksonFairForms. If you are interested in taking a Carcass Steer to the 2023 Fair, please sign and return the contract to Cattle Weigh-In on Jan. 7th.
- ☐ Market Ducks now able to be exhibited at the Jackson County Junior Fair! Market Ducks will be shown on Monday, July 17th, 2023, alongside Chickens and Turkeys. - ☐ Drug Use Notification Forms (DUNFs) are required for all Market Rabbits. Market Rabbits are intended for consumption and therefore should be drug free.
- ☐ New weight range rules have been established for Dairy Feeders and Beef Feeders. Dairy Feeders and Beef Feeders should weigh between 400-700lbs.
- ☐ New schedule change for this year's Jackson County Fair 2023: The Rabbit Show will be moved to Thursday, July 20th, 2023, and the Chicken Show will be moved to Monday, July 17th, 2023, so that all poultry can be shown on one day (chickens, turkeys, and ducks).
- ☐ Exhibitors have the option to participate in Skillathon this year! The Skillathon competition will take place Wednesday, June 7th, 2023 - 12:00pm to 4:00pm at the Jackson County Extension Office. More details to come!

What to expect in 2024...

- ☐ In 2024, ALL 4-H members are expected to complete a project book, display, and project interview regardless of non-livestock or livestock project involvement. There will be two days of project judging, one for Livestock projects and one for Non-Livestock Projects. This change is being made to be more in-line with other county 4-H programs across the state.
- ☐ Grade Sheets will no longer be offered at the club level and will not be accepted.
- ☐ Youth who do not complete project judging are not considered members in good standing and therefore will not receive a fair pass as reward for project completion. If youth cannot make the original assigned project interview time, a makeup interview date will be available.
- ☐ Please prepare ahead of time by reviewing helpful materials posted online at go.osu.edu/Jackson4HYouth

Over the Counter Medication Moving to Prescription (OTC – Rx)

Elizabeth Share, MS, 4-H Livestock Specialist, OSU Department of Animal Sciences

What is changing?

Many prescription (Rx) antibiotic products used in food animal veterinary medicine have been under veterinary oversight. In January 2017, several over the counter (OTC) products were shifted from OTC to veterinary feed directive (VFD) status. In 2023, remaining OTC "medically important" antibiotics will transition to prescription status. These products will no longer be able to be sold as OTC products and will only be available with a veterinary prescription and will need to be purchased from a veterinarian or a pharmacy.

When?

Expect the change to happen around June, 2023. However, the change to OTC medication availability may occur earlier or later than this for a few reasons:

1. Some manufacturers have already shipped the last of their OTC products, some of which may run out before June 11, 2023.
2. Other products have plenty in retail so these products may be on the shelves beyond June 11, 2023.

Note: The FDA will honor these remaining products as OTC until their expiration date, so it will be legal to sell and use these products without a veterinary prescription until they expire.

Why?

The upcoming changes are part of a organized effort to improve antibiotic stewardship practices. The goal is to reduce the need for antibiotics through preventing disease and when needed, carefully choose and use antibiotics in order to:

1. Reduce the development of antibiotic resistance, which can lead to untreatable infections in both humans and animals.
2. Help make sure that these important medications can continue to treat human and animal disease for a long time.

Even though this may take some additional work, it is important to improve antibiotic stewardship and make sure that the medicine both human (physicians) and animal (veterinarians) doctors need to fight disease continues to work.

Only for Intravenous Use in Beef and Dairy Cattle.
Not for Use in Dry Dairy Cows and Veal Calves.
For Intravenous and Intramuscular Use in Horses.
Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.
NADA #101-479, Approved by FDA.

Prescription (Rx)

- Requires Veterinary, Client, Patient Relationship (VCPR)
- Drugs that require a veterinarian's written permission for use
- Label of a RX drug will state "CAUTION Federal law restricts use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian."

Over-the-Counter (OTC)

- Can be purchased without a prescription,
- Should consult veterinarian before use, and
- MUST follow label instructions EXACTLY.

What products are impacted?

The changes are targeted at products that are both OTC and "medically important" antibiotics. Medically important antibiotics are shared between human and veterinary medicine. These classes are effected because resistance to these types of antibiotics pose the most risk to both human and animal health.

Injectable Products	Intramammary Products (Mastitis Tubes)	Oral Liquids and Boluses	Eye Ointments
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Penicillins• Tetracyclines• Sulfa Antibiotics• Erythromycin• Tylosin• Lincomycin• Spectinomycin• Gentamicin	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Erythromycin• Penicillins• Dihydrostreptomycin• Novobiocin• Cephapirin• Cephapirin Benzathine	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Dihydrostreptomycin• Sulfa Antibiotics• Tetracyclines• Spectinomycin• Gentamicin	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Gentamicin• Tetracyclines

What products are NOT impacted?

The upcoming changes will not affect access to products that are already under veterinary oversight, including all VFD and prescription products. There are also a wide range of non-antibiotic and non-medically important antibiotic products that will remain available OTC. Examples of the types of products not impacted by these changes are shown in the box to the right.

Products ALREADY Under Veterinary Oversight

- Prescription Products
- Veterinary Feed Directive Products

OTC Animal Health Products

- Vaccines
- Dewormers
- Fly Control
- Hormone Implants
- Teat Sealants
- Ionophore Products

If the affected product was purchased as an OTC product prior to the move to Rx, it can be used as an OTC product until it expires (e.g., it doesn't have the Rx label) .

What should be done with impacted products already purchased as OTC?

The newly labeled prescription products will have the Rx label stating "use by or on the order of a veterinarian only" (Rx label). Prior to the change, the product label will not carry this type of a phrase, which allows it to be sold and used OTC (OTC label). Any product purchased with an OTC label will be honored as OTC until the product's expiration date.

How will this impact youth livestock project members?

Access to these medications will be no different than current requirements for prescription products. To obtain a veterinary prescription, you will need to establish a veterinary-client-patient relationship (VCPR) with a veterinarian.

Having a valid VCPR can help:

1. Make sure that the best antibiotic at the best dosage is used to improve the likelihood of recovery while minimizing the risk of resistance,
2. Manage the health of project animal(s), and
3. Prevent drug residues.

What is Needed for a Valid VCPR?

Veterinary Responsibilities

1. Be responsible for clinical judgements on the operation,
2. Has observed and has knowledge of the animal(s) to make good clinical judgements,
3. Has discussed the health plan or any treatments with the owner, and
4. Be available for follow-up, either personally or through collaboration with other veterinarians.

Owner/Farm Responsibility

1. Agree to get and keep a valid VCPR and
2. Owners and management agree to follow veterinarian's instructions.

How to establish a VCPR:

1. Invite a veterinarian to speak at your club or project meeting about health plans,
2. Have a farm tour with your club and invite the veterinarian to come along, and/or
3. Visit with your county fair veterinarian.

Once the VCPR is Established

The veterinarian can provide a prescription for products they deem appropriate.

To purchase the prescription, there are several options:

1. Directly from the veterinarian,
2. Via a mail order service through the veterinarian (e.g., Chewy, 1-800-Pet-Meds), or
3. From a pharmacy, often online, that carries livestock medications.

Note: Do not expect your local farm store to carry these products as they would require a pharmacy license and a pharmacist on staff.

Check out this video from our friends at OSU College of Veterinary Medicine and OSU Extension Delaware County!

www.go.osu.edu/VCPR

What if I have an emergency?

A veterinarian is not required to examine each animal individually to maintain a valid VCPR. After a VCPR is established, some veterinarians may allow specific products to be kept on hand for use as cases of common diseases arise. Although establishing a VCPR by telemedicine (e.g., phone, email, Zoom) is not allowed, once a VCPR is in place, telemedicine is allowed for continuing care as an option to get veterinary treatment recommendations when a visit may not be possible.

How should youth members and families prepare?

Be proactive!

Have a valid VCPR

- If you do not have a VCPR, establish one by calling local veterinarians to learn what is required to set up and maintain a VCPR.
- If you do have a VCPR, check with your veterinarian to make sure that your VCPR is up-to-date.

Take appropriate steps to decrease the need for antibiotics:

- Biosecurity programs,
- Proper ventilation,
- Proper nutrition, and
- Vaccination.

Have a health management plan for your animals that helps to:

- Control disease,
- Reduce the risk of drug residues, and
- Improve animal health and welfare.
